

HISA MEETING AT PENN NATIONAL – MONDAY, JULY 20, 11 AM

HORSERACING INTEGRITY AND SAFETY AUTHORITY

HISA Leadership Visiting Penn National for Horsemen Q&A on July 20

The Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority (HISA) will be on-site at Penn National Race Course on Monday, July 20, as part of its ongoing listening tour focused on hearing directly from horsemen and industry participants across the country.

HISA's leadership team will host a two-hour open Q&A session beginning at 11:00 a.m. in the Paddock Café. This is an opportunity for horsemen to ask questions, raise concerns and have an open, honest conversation with HISA about its rules, programs and day-to-day impact.

The goal is simple: create a space for direct dialogue. HISA leadership will be there to listen, provide clear answers and engage in a constructive discussion about what's working, what's not and where there's room to improve.

Lunch will be provided for all attending horsemen at no cost.
